DESIGNING AN INTERACTIVE CAMPAIGN ON SHARED

MOBILITY FOR COMMUTERS AGED 25 – 34 IN

JABODETABEK

(Aliya Azzahra)

ABSTRACT

This document outlines a strategic response to Jakarta's escalating pollution crisis, with a focus on promoting shared mobility as a solution to mitigate traffic congestion and air pollution. Jakarta has consistently ranked as one of the world's most polluted cities, with the transportation sector identified as a significant contributor. This report underscores the potential of shared mobility options, including ridesharing and bike sharing, to alleviate these critical issues. Key insights are drawn from a survey targeting commuters aged 25-34 in the Jakarta region, revealing a heightened awareness of pollution and positive experiences with shared mobility services. Nevertheless, a notable absence of media campaigns advocating shared mobility is identified. To bridge this gap, the document proposes the creation of an interactive media campaign tailored to young working adults. The campaign design methodology incorporates principles of Design Thinking, encompassing empathy, problem definition, ideation, prototyping, and testing, ensuring relevance and resonance with the target audience. In summary, this document presents a holistic approach to tackle Jakarta's pollution crisis through shared mobility promotion, highlighting the significance of media campaigns and user-centered design methodologies.

MERANCANG KAMPANYE INTERAKTIF MOBILITAS BERSAMA UNTUK KOMUTER USIA 25 – 34 TAHUN DI JABODETABEK

(Aliya Azzahra)

ABSTRAK (Bahasa Indonesia)

Dokumen ini menguraikan respons strategis terhadap krisis polusi yang meningkat di Jakarta, dengan fokus pada promosi mobilitas bersama sebagai solusi untuk mengurangi kemacetan lalu lintas dan polusi udara. Jakarta secara konsisten menduduki peringkat salah satu kota paling berpolusi di dunia, dengan sektor transportasi diidentifikasi sebagai kontributor signifikan. Laporan ini menekankan potensi opsi mobilitas bersama, termasuk berbagi perjalanan dan berbagi sepeda, untuk mengatasi masalah-masalah kritis ini. Temuan utama ditarik dari survei yang ditargetkan pada para komuter berusia 25-34 tahun di wilayah Jakarta, yang mengungkapkan kesadaran yang tinggi tentang polusi dan pengalaman positif dengan layanan mobilitas bersama. Namun, terdapat ketidakhadiran mencolok kampanye media yang menganjurkan mobilitas bersama. Untuk mengatasi kesenjangan ini, dokumen ini mengusulkan pembuatan kampanye media interaktif yang disesuaikan untuk para pekerja muda. Metodologi desain kampanye mencakup prinsip-prinsip Desain Berpikir, yang meliputi empati, definisi masalah, ideasi, prototipe, dan pengujian, memastikan relevansi dan resonansi dengan audiens target. Secara ringkas, dokumen ini menyajikan pendekatan holistik untuk mengatasi krisis polusi Jakarta melalui promosi mobilitas bersama, menyoroti pentingnya kampanye media dan metodologi desain yang berpusat pada pengguna.
