2.1.1 History

Located just 100 meters from the scenic Jimbaran Bay, the Mövenpick Resort & Spa Jimbaran Bali blends modern hospitality with rich Balinese traditions. As part of the 3.5-hectare Samasta Lifestyle Village, the resort is surrounded by retail outlets, dining venues, and cultural attractions, offering guests a vibrant and immersive lifestyle destination. Officially opened on January 12, 2017, it marked the entry of Swiss hospitality brand Mövenpick into Indonesia and was developed by PT Summarecon Agung Tbk.

The resort's architecture and layout, designed by Hadiprana Design, are deeply rooted in Balinese culture. Inspired by the five traditional elements—earth, water, fire, air, and ether—the design incorporates natural materials such as wood, stone, and clay, and follows the Balinese principles of "procession" and "layering" to create a sense of journey through the space. Its 297 rooms and suites feature artistic Balinese touches and private balconies, offering both comfort and cultural authenticity.

Guests can enjoy a 2,900-square-meter free-form swimming pool that includes an artificial beach and a lap pool. For families, the resort provides dedicated spaces such as the Meera Kids Club and a Teen Club with supervised programs. Culinary experiences range from the interactive live cooking stations at Anarasa, the main restaurant, to Above Eleven Bali, a rooftop venue offering Peruvian-Japanese fusion cuisine, which opened in February 2017.

As the first five-star hotel by Summarecon and Mövenpick's debut property in the country, the resort stands as a significant milestone in Bali's hospitality sector—symbolizing a successful fusion of international standards and local culture.

2.1 Organizational Structure

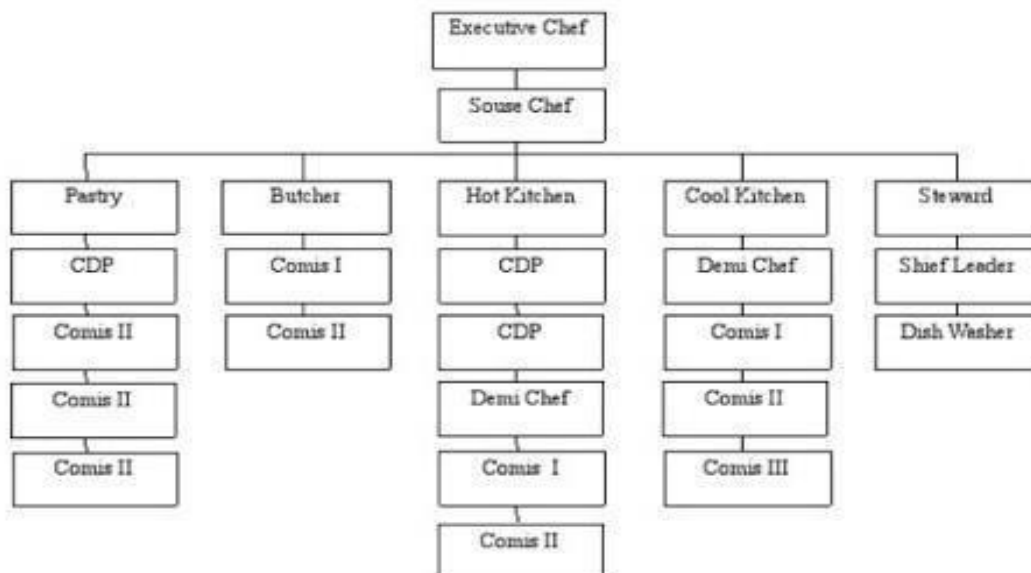

Organizational structure plays an important role in ensuring the smooth operation of a company, whether it is small or large in scale. Through proper organization, work can be carried out more effectively and not concentrated under a single point of control. The organizational structure functions to clarify the division of tasks, authority, and the relationships between departments, allowing each individual to clearly understand their position and responsibilities. As a result, workflow becomes more organized, coordination between departments improves, and the overall system can operate more efficiently.

Below are the job descriptions of each position within the kitchen organizational structure.

1. Executive Chef

The Executive Chef holds the highest authority in the kitchen organizational structure at MÖVENPICK Resort & Spa Jimbaran Bali and is responsible for all culinary operations across the resort's dining outlets, including Anarasa Restaurant, JeJaLa Pool Bar, Mövenpick Café, and banquet events. The role involves ensuring food quality, maintaining consistency in taste and presentation, enforcing hygiene and HACCP standards, and overseeing menu engineering, recipe development, cost control, and supplier coordination. The Executive Chef also leads staff management, conducts regular training, handles kitchen maintenance issues with Engineering, and works closely with the Food and Beverage Director on strategic culinary planning.

2. Executive Sous Chef

Supporting the Executive Chef is the Executive Sous Chef, who manages the daily operational flow of the entire kitchen. This position oversees inventory and purchasing, prepares staff schedules, monitors discipline and productivity, assists in quality control and cost efficiency, and helps implement new menus to ensure all kitchen activities align with the Executive Chef's standards and expectations.

3. Sous Chefs and Junior Sous Chefs

Reporting to the Executive Sous Chef are the Sous Chefs, each responsible for a specific outlet. The Sous Chef of Anarasa Restaurant oversees buffet preparation, à la carte service, and coordination with the service team. The Sous Chef of the Pool Bar & Events manages live cooking stations, BBQ operations, and outdoor functions. The Bakery & Pastry Sous Chef supervises pastry production, bakery items, and cold dessert preparation. These roles are supported by Junior Sous Chefs, who assist with production flow, hygiene supervision, storage control, and staff scheduling to ensure smooth daily operations.

4. Section Chefs (CDP, Demi Chef, Commis)

The resort's kitchen is divided into specialized sections led by a Chef de Partie (CDP), supported by Demi Chefs and Commis. The Hot Kitchen prepares main dishes, soups, sauces, and warm sides. The Grill Section (Saucier) focuses on grilled items such as steaks and seafood. The Cold Kitchen produces salads, appetizers, dressings, canapés, and cold desserts. Meanwhile, the Bakery & Pastry Section handles daily bread, pastries, dough preparation, and dessert production under the supervision of the Pastry Chef and Bakery CDP.

5. Cross-Training and Interdepartmental Collaboration

Cross-training is an essential practice across all sections, allowing staff to rotate between stations to build versatility, strengthen teamwork, and maintain efficiency during peak hours or staff shortages. The kitchen also collaborates with other departments, including Purchasing for supply coordination and stock control, Engineering for timely equipment maintenance, and the Food and Beverage Service team to ensure smooth communication and a seamless guest dining experience throughout the resort
