

CHAPTER II

GENERAL DESCRIPTION

2.1. Hotel's Profile

2.1.1. History

First established in London during the reign of Queen Victoria. Officially opened on June 10, 1865, as the first luxury hotel in Europe (HospitalityNet, 2025). Sir Edward Walter was the person who built the Langham Hotel using the most advanced technology at that time, which already had electric lighting and air cooling. Because of this, The Langham Hotel attracted many guests, even the Prince of Wales attended the official opening ceremony.

The Langham Hotel London was used as a temporary medical and military post during World War II. Then, the hotel building was bought by the British Broadcasting Corporation (BBC) and turned into offices and a studio after the war (Kiddle, 2024). However, the hotel was once closed and underwent major renovations at the end of the 20th century.

Starting to grow internationally, a company from Hong Kong named Great Eagle Holdings acquired The Langham London in 1995 (Hospitality ON, 2023). Great Eagle strengthened their luxury hotels with a new name, Langham Hotels International. For example, Great Eagle Hotel (Hong Kong) changed its name to The Langham, Hong Kong in 2003. The Langham, London officially returned to its original name in May 2004 after renovation.

Over time, Langham has expanded to many big cities around the world like Hong Kong, Shanghai, Shenzhen, Guangzhou, and Changsha, and also other major cities in America and Australia. Through this, Langham Hotel has become a global luxury hotel brand. More than 30 Langham properties are spread across Asia,

North America, the Pacific, and Europe and are owned by Great Eagle. Great Eagle has its own hotel division called Langham Hospitality Group which in 2003, Great Eagle Hotels International officially changed its name to Langham Hotels International Limited (LHI), which later became known as Langham Hospitality Group. This name change shows the company's focus on developing and managing luxury hotels in different parts of the world under the Langham brand which continues to strengthen Langham's legacy since 1865 as a symbol of quality and the best service.

Then, Great Eagle expanded in Southeast Asia. The Langham Jakarta first opened on September 9, 2021, in Indonesia's capital city as the new leading luxury hotel. Located in the prestigious District 8 complex in the Sudirman Central Business District of Jakarta, this 65-floor luxury hotel was developed together with Agung Sedayu Group (HospitalityNet, 2021).

After being acquired and rebranded by Great Eagle, The Langham was managed as a luxury hotel segment spread globally. Based on official reports, Langham Hospitality Group manages more than 30 hotels around the world, making The Langham one of the most historic and reputable hotel brands in the global hospitality industry (Retail & Leisure International, 2025).

With complete facilities and a comfortable atmosphere, guests can enjoy a special dining moment at the restaurants in The Langham Jakarta.

2.2 Organizational Structure

The organizational structure of The Langham Jakarta is arranged to ensure the hotel's operations run smoothly and efficiently. Each section has specific responsibilities, but they all work together to provide the best service to the guests.

(Source: Internal information from The Langham Jakarta)

Table 2.6 The Langham Hotel Jakarta Organizational Structure

In the hotel organizational structure, each person has important roles and responsibilities, from ensuring smooth hotel operations to making sure guests are happy. At the hotel, the highest position is held by the general manager who has the task of supervising all hotel activities. The general manager does not work alone, he is helped by many people who makes sure that the tasks given by the general manager run smoothly.

Under the General Manager, there are several key directors, including the Director of Operations, Director of Human Resources, Director of Food and Beverage, Director of Finance, Director of Sales and Marketing, and the Senior Director of Rooms. Each director oversees their respective department and ensures that daily operations follow hotel standards.

The Food and Beverage division is responsible for managing restaurants, bars, and banquet services. Sales and Marketing focuses on promoting the hotel and increasing room and outlet sales. Finance handles financial planning, budgeting, and cash flow. Human Resources manages recruitment, training, and employee welfare. Engineering and Maintenance ensures that hotel facilities and equipment are always in good condition. Security is responsible for guest and staff safety, while Spa and Wellness manages health and fitness services. Public Relations and Guest Relations focus on building the hotel’s image and ensuring guest satisfaction. With this clear structure, each department can work effectively together to provide high-quality service to guests.

Table 2.7 The Food and Beverage Department Organizational Structure

The F&B organizational structure is made to make sure food and beverage services run according to standards. The F&B Director is under the General Manager and leads the F&B department directly. Under the F&B Director are the F&B Coordinator and the Assistant F&B Director, who support and help manage daily operations across all outlets. When the restaurant opens, there is a restaurant manager who has the task of supervising restaurant operations, they coordinate with the supervisor, captain, and hostess. In the bar, there is also a leader called the beverage manager who organizes all bar activities and is helped by a bar manager who leads the bar supervisor, mixologist, and bartender to make sure the beverage service runs according to standards. Finally, there is the banquet director who is responsible for big events, with the help of the banquet manager. This structure allows for better coordination and clear division of tasks, so that food and beverage service quality is always maintained and according to hotel standards.

Table 2.8 The T'ang Court Organizational Structure

T'ang Court has its own organizational structure to ensure smooth restaurant operations and high service standards. At the top of the structure is the Restaurant Manager, who is responsible for overall operations, service quality, and team coordination. Below the Manager is the Assistant Manager, who supports daily operations and helps handle guest issues and staff supervision. Under the Assistant Manager is the Supervisor, who directly oversees the service flow during operating hours and ensures that service procedures are followed correctly.

The Head Waiter and Hostess work under the Supervisor. The Head Waiter leads the service team on the floor, assigns tasks, and supports waiters during busy periods. The Hostess is responsible for welcoming guests, managing reservations, and escorting guests to their tables. Under the Head Waiter are the Waiters, who are responsible for taking orders, serving food and beverages, and attending to guest needs. Below the Waiters are the Assistant Waiters or Food Runners, who support service by delivering food from the kitchen, clearing tables, and assisting with setup.

As an Intern, the writer position is under the supervision of the Waiter and Head Waiter. She assists both roles by supporting daily service activities, such as preparing the pantry, serving beverages, delivering food, and maintaining cleanliness. This position allows her to learn directly from experienced staff while gaining hands-on experience in restaurant operations.
